

The One Year Program consists of four courses over one year and provides an opportunity for clinical practitioners and professionals in various disciplines to enhance their clinical skills by introducing them to innovative, Modern Psychoanalytic principles, theories, and techniques. Students learn effective ways to design interventions to reverse maladaptive emotional and behavioral patterns, and quickly begin to master new, practical clinical skills that can profoundly impact work with clients by promoting a collaborative, self-defining approach to growth. ACAP's methods for working in challenging situations can make the difference between burnout and career satisfaction through covering basic concepts in modern psychoanalysis.
